Welcome to this special "Hurricane Frances" edition of the Radio HF Internet Newsletter. The following web sites offer a variety of information relating to Hurricane Frances which is currently over the Bahamas and is heading towards south-east Florida. Please feel free to share this information with any family members, friends, etc.

HURRICANE FREQUENCIES

http://www.hurricanefrequencies.com/

The following high-frequency hurricane season intercepts have been gleaned from numerous sources. Times and frequencies are subject to frequent change, and are listed for reference only. Check frequently during hurricane season for updates. This is the original Hurricane Frequencies list, published during every hurricane season since 1991.

2004 HURRICANE FREQUENCIES HUGH STEGMAN

http://www.ominous-valve.com/hurricne.txt

An updated list of HF hurricane related radio frequencies to monitor, prepared by Hugh Stegman

HURRICANE CITY

http://www.hurricanecity.com/

An excellent website which follows and reports on Atlantic hurricanes. There are many links to radar sites, radio stations, webcams, etc. from cities and states in storm areas. The site usually has streaming audio from area radio and/or TV services. They also broadcast live, in-house programmes during major storms.

NATIONAL HURRICANE CENTER

http://www.nhc.noaa.gov/

N.O.A.A.'s National Hurricane Center homepage. Be sure to check the of general information called "Learn about Hurricanes" to better understand these storms.

ATLANTIC TROPICAL WEATHER CENTER

http://www.atwc.org/

Since 1995, this has been the internet's most comprehensive listing of websites offering information on hurricanes, radar and satellite data. If you have not been to this site before, we recommend looking through the index first because the site is massive.

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY

http://www.fema.gov/

This page has front-page coverage of the agency's efforts for upcoming Hurricane Frances.

CARIBBEAN HURRICANE NETWORK

http://www.stormcarib.com/

StormCARIB is all about the Caribbean. Here you can find information, weather discussions and local reports regarding tropical systems threatening the Caribbean islands. A central part of this website is the network of special local hurricane correspondents, living on the islands, who will report, when need be, on how it looks and feels like around them.

HURRICANE AND STORM TRACKING

http://hurricane.terrapin.com/

The StormTrack system receives weather data from the US National Weather Service via satellite. The system creates an entry for each tropical depression, storm, or hurricane when the National Weather Service begins issuing advisories.

HURRICANE HUNTERS

http://www.hurricanehunters.com/

Although an old page, this site does give a lot of information on the planes that fly into storms to make important observations and take vital measurements.

THE HURRICANE WATCH NET

http://www.hwn.org/

Web site of this amateur radio network which has been serving the National Hurricane Centre and amateur radio operators during tropical storms since 1965. They transmit on 14325 kHz. USB

http://www.wx4nhc.org

Located at Florida State University, this organization has been offering public service during storms for 24 years. There are lots of useful links on this page.

SPECIFIC FLORIDA RELATED SITES

FLORIDA DIVISION OF EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT

http://www.floridadisaster.org/

This is an excellent, all-purpose site for emergency management services in the state of Florida, not only during this specific hurricane, but other events in Florida.

FLORIDA RADIO STATIONS

http://www.usnewslinks.com/radiostations/fl.html

This is a comprehensive list of links to AM and FM radio stations in Florida. You will need to check out individual station web pages to determine which ones may be live streaming through their web sites.

FLORIDA TV STATIONS

http://www.usnewslinks.com/tvstations/fl.html

This is a similar listing of Florida state TV stations, with links to their pages.

FLORIDA NEWSPAPERS

http://dlis.dos.state.fl.us/fgils/flnews2.html

This site is developed and maintained by the State Library of Florida. Links are provided to a variety of Florida newspapers, some of which offer full text of current articles and archives, some of which offer only tables of contents.

MIAMI-DADE COUNTY PORTAL

http://miamidade.gov/wps/portal

Special site of Dade County, covering Miami. Lots of links and information here.

BROWARD COUNTY HURRICANE INFORMATION

http://www.broward.org/mainstory.htm

This is a special section of the Broward County webpage focusing on Hurricane Frances information.
